

Maya Was Grumpy

IMAGINARY AND REAL: Maya's grandmother helps Maya find her smile by suggesting some silly imaginary activities. Each activity is similar to something they do later in the playground. Draw lines to connect the imaginary activities with the real things – using the words and the pictures. What other activities can you imagine that would make you smile?

hunt for hippos	•water fountain put head in crocodile's mouth	•tunnel bathe baby elephants	•slide tickle tarantulas	•sandbox slide down the neck of a giraffe	•monkey bars swing with monkeys	•climbing ropes

