

Reacting to Bullying

Everyone reacts differently when someone is bullied. Imagine that the children below are witnessing someone being bullied. In each speech bubble, write what the child below might be thinking or saying.

Now think about how you have reacted in the past when you saw someone being bullied. Draw a line under the child who acted like you did. If you would like to react differently the next time you see someone get bullied, draw two lines under the child who is reacting the way you'd like to react. Make time to talk to your friends, parents, and/or teacher about bullying and ways to help stop bullying.